FOLLIES OF THE WAR.

A SAGE, young philosopher, thinking of the success of war as planned by syndicate newspapers, acquitted himself of an article in last Sunday's Examiner that writes him down the epitome of egotism or an egregious ass. The latter more likely. This youth reads a lesson to the slow going general at the seat of war and with one bold dash of his typewriter suggests how the war can be solved in a wild swoop down on Berlin. There is not much to it, according to this process. The originator of the Examiner scheme would simply place an army of American aviators—remember they must be American aviators, on the frontier and there permit them to ascend in the blue empyrean where they would trim their pinions and fly directly to Berlin and proceed to work havoc with the private possessions of the kaiser. The writer of this gifted essay occupied an entire page in directing what should be done, but he failed to suggest how it might be accomplished. It seemed like another case of the resourceful Christopher Columbus who was asked by the courtiers to stand an egg on its pointed end and succeeded in performing the feat by denting one end and causing the hen fruit to squat where it was planted on the table. It mattered little if the contents were distributed. They had nothing to do with the bet. The egg stood on end and Columbus was acclaimed a great man for covering the courtiers with confusion. This modern heir to the mantle of Jules Verne and H. G. Wells, the aeronautical novelist, proposes something that has occupied the minds of the leading generals ever since the beginning of the war. The Examiner man forgot one thing in his intensely patriotic suggestion that none but Americans be placed on airships and that was the simple fact that the United States does not boast of enough trained aviators to maintain a flight for a single battle. This flying to Berlin is a matter calling for some distance to be negotiated. For instance, in an air line between the French and German capitals it is, roughly speaking, 500 miles. For an airplane of the swiftest capacity to go and return would require a continuous flight of at least ten hours through an enemy country bristling with anti-aircraft guns and without any stations or aerodromes where gas may be had or repairs effected. The Wright brothers and their European successors have done some marvellous work in perfecting the science of flying, but they have not succeeded in devising any high speed machine that will remain aloft in air for such a period. Even in this country, in piping times of peace there is not an aviator who can boast of making the flight from Buffalo to New York or from San Francisco to San Diego without alighting and without having to dodge enemy missiles.

The scheme is not feasible, but it contains a germ that may be utilized for inroads on the enemy resources. This is the suggestion that the future successes of the allies will depend on the alertness of the birdmen in d-stroying lines of communication in the rear of the German entrenchments and not in massacring thousands of innocent German people who are more eager that there should be an early termination of the war than we are. Germany has attacked the transportation of the allies and is making a howling success of the movement. In retaliation the allies will probably assail with cyclones of bombs the terrain in rear of the western front and by smashing the railroad lines thoroughly prevent the movement of munitions from rear to front. In this way victory would be comparatively easy and it is the belief that some such movement is contemplated by the order for the erection of a vast training camp in the United States at which thousands of birdmen men be perfected in the science of flying and shooting as they fly.

NOT A FINANCIAL ASTRINGENT.

WITH the approach of the second call for the payment of the next deposit of 15 per cent on the subscriptions for Liberty Loans, the fear is expressed that an acute condition will develop that will have the effect of withdrawing vast sums from circulation. Nothing could be farther from the truth as there is nothing more elastic than the modern system of currency. The N. Y. Commercial reviews the bond question in the following:

"In a year or less the federal government will have to sell $3,000,000,000 of bonds, in addition to the issue now being offered to the public, and if the war does not end within a year it will be necessary to raise at least $5,000,000,000 more before the end of the year 1919.

"Great Britain already has borrowed about $37,000,000,000 and once our campaign is under way, our expenses will be no lighter than hers.

"These Liberty Bonds will be the premier security of the world.

"In accordance with the provisions of the federal reserve act, the federal reserve banks cannot rediscount paper based on stock exchange collateral, with the single exception of paper backed by United States government bonds. Every great corporation and every capitalist desiring to keep their assets in liquid form so that they can negotiate loans at a moment's notice and at the lowest possible rate of interest, will buy these bonds.

"At this writing the time money rate on 30-day loans, based on stock exchange collateral, is six per cent, while the rediscount rate in the federal reserve bank of New York is less than three and one-quarter per cent. This means that a man would have to pay six per cent for a loan based on the best railroad stocks and bonds, but could borrow the same money, for the same time, at three and a quarter from the federal reserve bank, through the agency of a member bank.

"The state of the New York money market today proves that these bonds will have an added value of great importance because they can be used as collateral for short date loans when the rate for stock exchange loans is high.

"These Liberty Bonds are tax exempt. A well known foreign financial writer attacks the underlying principle and says of America, we have had a codfish aristocracy, a landed aristocracy, and we now are laying the foundation for a bonded aristocracy.

"Not only, he says, are the taxless government bonds likely to create a new aristocracy that will take its revenue from the nation and yet pay no share of it, but if other bonds and stocks are subject to heavy taxation there will be direct discouragement to the up-building of the country's productive capacity, so necessary to create the required national wealth.

"This bitter attack is not well founded, in the opinion of New York bankers, but it does show how outsiders capable of judging regard the value of the tax exemption.

"If this war lasts two or three years, as some believe it will, our national debt will assume large proportions and the income tax not only will grow heavier, but it will be maintained at a high rate for several years after peace is restored. The inevitable result of this will be that exemption Government bonds will command a premium that will be in proportion to the income tax on the revenues derived from other high grade investments."

I. W. W. THREATEN TO TIE UP IRON MINES

(By Associated Press.) HIBBING, Minn., June 19.—An I. W. W. strike of Mesaba Range miners is threatened in an appeal "to workers in the iron industry," made in circulars. The miners are urged to be prepared for a walk out and to determine that the "imprisoned fellow workers" who are slackers be released.

The circulars tell of the copper strike in Butte, Montana, and say that the lumber industry of the west also will be tied up.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, June 19.—There can be no appeal from the fine and suspension recently imposed on Manager McGraw of the New York baseball club by President Tener, according to a ruling of the board of directors of the National League here today. (By Associated Press.) CINCINNATI, June 19.—Chicago easily defeated the locals 4 to 2 yesterday. Demaree was hit frequently but managed to keep his well scattered and to tighten up when his meant runs.

(By Associated Press.) ST. LOUIS, June 19.—Cooper pitched a tight ball with men on bases and Pittsburg shut out St. Louis 4 to 0.

BRITISH TONNAGE DOES NOT FETCH HIGH PRICES

(By Associated Press.) LONDON, June 19.—British second-hand vessels are not bringing the high prices of a year ago and buyers are holding off in view of the new conditions and increased taxtion of profits proposed in the last budget. While Scandinavian and Japanese second-hand steamers are selling up to £50 a ton, three British steamers aggregating 20,000 tons recently were sold for £12 10s per ton.

CANADIAN DEPENDENTS MAROONED IN ENGLAND

(By Associated Press.) LONDON, June 19.—There are 40,000 dependents of Canadian soldiers in this country unable to return to Canada owing to the lack of passenger accommodation on the few steamers running to Canada. They came soon after their menfolk when the latter enlisted and, in some cases, the men already have returned to Canada wounded or discharged from the army. Others were relatives of soldiers who have been killed there and are anxious to return.

RULING ON DEMURRER TO BUILDER'S LIEN CLAIM

Judge Averill yesterday overruled a demurrer filed by Helen P. and Marius Duval to a claim of the Verdi Lumber company against Ray Holbrook et al for material furnished in connection with a lease of the basement of the Kendall block. No notice of nonresponsibility was posted at the time the improvements were made.

In the third round Nelson went down for the count of two and twice for a count of nine before he took the full count.

GOLD BRICK RECOVERED

(By Associated Press.) ALASKA, June 19.—After a search lasting over two months the gold brick stolen from the store building of the Chichakoff mine was recovered hidden in a sand bank about half a mile from the scene of the robbery. The brick is valued at $23,000. Government agents believed that it was dropped by two men under arrest when they were hard pressed not far from the scene of the crime.

ANZACS ADOPT NAMES FOR DIFFERENT RECRUITS

(By Associated Press.) HOBART, New Zealand, June 19.—For the purpose of facilitating army recruiting, the people have adopted distinguishing names for the two lots of men who are serving.
